Straight and mineral on the initial attack but not lacking a rounder side as well, the Rully premier cru Les Cloux offers approachable aromas of ripe apple, acacia flowers and spice. The texture is silky with balanced acidity and a lingering finish – delightful. The grapes are from 0.7ha up-slope from Chapitre; they are gently pressed, fermented, and aged in barrel. This should drink on release but is suited for mid-term ageing as well.

La Pucelle is up-slope from Belleville's holding in La Créé on an east-facing slope with limestone soils. This presents lush aromas of ripe Mirabelle plum and passion fruit with a hint of linden flowers. The texture has a lovely density, good balancing acidity and a lingering finish. The grapes are from a hectare of vines; they are pressed as whole clusters, fermented in barrel, 25% new, and aged for one year before being racked to tank.

Part of Burgundy 2024 en primeur: White wines shine amid a small and challenging harvest

Drinking Window: 2026 - 2032

This is a promising wine. A bit less expressive than some of the wines in the cellar initially, but it opens up with time on the palate to show a lovely tropical fruit character with hints of hazelnut and spice. The texture is rich but still lively and dynamic. The grapes are from the base of the slope; they are gently pressed and settled before fermentation in barrel (25% new).

Rich, ripe and slightly heavy, showing aromas of apricot and quince on the nose, with hints of honey and a floral edge. The texture is dense, concentrated and lush, and the wine lingers on the palate. The grapes are from the bottom of the slope in dense clay soils; they are fermented in barrel, 25% new, and the wine will soon be racked to tank. This should be ready to drink on release.

Rich but not opulent, offering aromas of passion fruit and white flowers. The rich fruit carries through to the palate but the wine is neither heavy nor fat – there is a pleasantly lively acidity that draws it to a satisfying finish. The grapes are from five parcels totalling more than 2.7ha below premier cru La Pucelle, with several different expositions. The grapes are gently pressed and fermented in barrel, 20% new.

Charming, offering a lovely aroma of lemon peel and nectarine with a hint of white flowers. The texture is velvety and elegant with balanced acidity and a lingering finish. This vineyard ripened well and was the third plot picked here in 2024. The grapes are from 0.3ha on the border with Rully, planted in clay soils. This will be drinkable on release.

Floral, perfumed and very exotic on the initial attack, with aromas of Mirabelle plum, melon and notes of white flowers and spice. The grapes are from 0.35ha of fairly deep clay soils that have given better yields than the surrounding vineyards. Fermentation took place in barrel, 35% new, and the wine was aged for a year before being racked to tank.

Clos l'Evêque is among the top terroirs in Mercurey, and this wine is a step up for Belleville, with ripe aromas of black cherry and hints of violets, anise, smoke and a more pronounced burst of limestone minerality. The grapes are from 0.7ha at the top of the slope, in thin soil over limestone, giving the wine an ethereal yet solid character that lingers impressively on the palate.

Les Perrières overdelivered in 2024, offering outstanding ripeness and concentration, with aromas of mulberry, plum and hints of liquorice, leather and smoke. The texture is as more open compared with last year's tannic, slightly unyielding wine. The grapes are from 0.94ha in the middle of the stony slope; they are destemmed and firmly extracted before ageing for one year in barrel, 35% new.

Shows ripe raspberry and plum fruit on the initial attack, plus notes of earth, cedar and spice. There is concentration and a bit more tannic grip than the Perrières. The vines are from a parcel of 0.88ha facing east and north; they are destemmed and gently fermented to avoid extracting a green edge to the wine. This should be ready to drink after two to three years in the bottle.

The premier cru Chapître is the most expressive of the Rully reds from Belleville, with ripe mulberry and plum fruit alongside notes of earth, leather and spice. The texture is firm, with slightly grippy tannins, medium body and enough extract to linger attractively on the finish. The grapes are from vines at the base of the slope in clay and limestone soils; they were destemmed and firmly extracted before ageing in barrel, 25% new.
